

Deborah "Debbie" E. Brooks

January 26, 1953 - February 10, 2021

Deborah "Debbie" E. (Hoyt) Brooks, 68, passed unexpectedly at home into the arms of her Lord and Savior, on February 10, 2021. She was born one of four children in Indianapolis, on January 26, 1953, to the late Leo C. and Alma E. (Aikins) Hoyt.

Raised on the south side of Indianapolis, Debbie attended Manual High School. In her youth, she spent her free time roller skating, swimming in the heat of the summer, dancing, and taking long Sunday drives to the country, for her passionate interest in horses, knowing someday she would have one of her own.

Later in life, and already established as a mother, she unknowingly met her soul mate and future husband, Jerry. After a lengthy courtship, the pair married, realizing that together they made the world a better place. With a yearning for the quiet life, the newlywed couple moved from the city into the simple country life, where Debbie could fulfill her life-long dream of having her very own horses. She secured employment at IU Morgan Hospital in Martinsville as an Administration Clerk, later retiring.

Dedicated and loving, family was everything. She truly lived for her children, never seeing them as anything short of perfection. When it came to Debbie, she was the real deal, what you saw was what you got; she did not put-on heirs to prove who she was to anyone. The epitome of the bible verse, Matthew 5:8, "Blessed are the pure at heart, for they shall see God", Debbie chose to see the good in this world, and there will never be another soul such as hers. In the words of her husband, she was as close to perfection as a human being could get, and if we could all follow by her example, the world would be a better place. She left an imprint on humanity, leading by example, and leaving a void in the hearts of her family and friends for years to come.

Debbie leaves behind her husband, Gerald Brooks; children, Mya Mullen (husband, Fred), Wendy Partlow, Karl Partlow, and Kim Parsley; siblings, David Hoyt (wife, Sue), Nancy Williams, and Judy Givens; grandchildren, Chris Tate, Breanna Hall, Nik Gray, Aubrey Ewing, Carter Mullen, and Peyton Mullen; great grandchildren, Joseph Parsley, and Bryson Tate; along with her favorite fur friend, Comanche.
